

ONLY $1 PROFIT IN EVERY BIG STEER

W. D. Miles Testifies That of This Amount Only Three Cents Is Made on Beef.

FAT YIELDS 42 CENTS

Hide Gives Thirty-Seven Cents to Packers, While Hoofs Represent Eighteen Cents in Glue.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] CHICAGO, Ill., Thursday.—Beef packers make only one dollar a head on steers killed, William D. Miles testified at today's session of the trial of ten of them, and only three cents of the dollar is gained from the dressed meat. The fat from each animal gives a profit of forty-two cents, he said, hides give thirty-seven cents and glue from the hoofs means eighteen cents on each head. These figures were given when Mr. Miles, who once was general manager for the Armour Packing Company at Kansas City, told the jury how the Armour company in 1894 had made $202,875.18 net profit on 320,820 cattle killed.

The witness gave this summary of the net profits of 1899: Oleomargarine and other oils, $84,275.21; dressed beef, $6,558.88; hides, $76,051.71; glue, $36,939.38; total, $202,875.18.

Government Is Disappointed. James M. Sheehan spent much time in trying to get the witness to admit that these figures were obtained by the beef packers specially chosen bookkeeping methods, but failed. The government attorneys were disappointed in Mr. Sheehan's testimony, but he concluded today, because they had expected he would reveal important secrets. It was reported today that counsel for the government would convene the jury at 10 o'clock yesterday and today with the statements he made before the Federal Grand Jury and that if any discrepancies are discovered Judge Carpenter will be asked to act in the matter.

Mr. Miles repeated his denial that the packers' pool was designed for other purposes than to control shipments with a view of preventing glutting of the fresh meat market, and he denied that any agreement ever existed in regard to the "open cities."

Government attorneys presented many circulars, letters and statistical records bearing on the alleged agreements and credited to agents of the defendants. These documents were read to the jury and later Mr. Miles identified most of them, explaining their contents. Mr. Sheehan showed by some of the documents that the volume of business done by Armour & Co. for the 17 weeks between 1898 and 1902 was slightly less than in a preceding period.

"Do you know of instances where several members of the combination were shipping to the same point, that the members agreed to either increase or decrease the volume of shipments?"

Agree to Limit Shipments. "Yes, I remember one case. Armour had cooling houses at Hazelton, Pa., and they agreed to limit shipments to that point to prevent flooding that market."

The witness was shown a copy of an unsigned letter addressed to C. W. W. Armour of the Armour Packing Company, at Kansas City, which he said he had seen before. He, however, was unable to explain all the figures in regard to shipments, but said he believed it had been sent out from the packers' combination in Chicago.

"Did you ever see that letter in the Grand Jury room?" shouted Mr. Sheehan. Counsel for the defendants instantly were on their feet to object, and they were sustained by the Court.

A memorandum of margins and shipments to Baltimore and Washington markets was identified as having been written by the witness, who admitted having wired the information to a representative of the Armour Packing Company in New York.

Does the memorandum truly state the action taken at the meeting of the packers' pool?"

"Yes, so far as it goes; but my recollection as to details is somewhat hazy at this time."

Memory Is Only General. "Did not this action provide for the reduction of the shipments of the Armour Packing Company to these markets with the understanding that the deficit was to be contributed by two other members of the combination?"

"I only remember in a general way what the action was," replied the witness.

The witness added the name of W. F. Burroughs, of Libby, McNeill & Libby, as one of those who attended the meetings of the packers' pool.

The word margin, as used by the packers, did not indicate in dollars and cents, or in cipher, the selling price of fresh meat, Mr. Miles said.

"Were the packers' shipments in the Eastern cities agreed upon at these Tuesday afternoon meetings?" asked Mr. Sheehan.

"In some cities, yes, and in other cities, no."

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR MR. DICKENS Arrangements for the funeral of Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of the novelist, were completed yesterday. Mr. Dickens died suddenly at the Hotel Astor on Tuesday evening. Services will be held tomorrow at half-past twelve o'clock at Trinity Church. The body will be placed in a receiving vault in Trinity Cemetery, on Washington Heights, pending final instructions from the two daughters, who are at their home in Australia.

The only relative to attend the funeral will be a cousin, Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, of Pelham, N. Y. The honorary pallbearers, as announced by Lee Kiedick, one of the managers of Mr. Dickens' lecture tour, will include Mr. Henry Claws, Mr. A. Barton Hepburn, Mr. William A. Clark, Dr. John H. Finley, Mr. Robert G. Morris, Mr. Courtenay W. Bennett and Mr. J. F. Alexander.

Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, Mr. Joseph H. Choate and Mr. Seth Low have sent condolences and may be at the services.

MR. HYDE FIGHTING HARD FOR EXCHANGE

His Attorney Serves Additional Affidavits Declaring That His Client Cannot Get Fair Trial.

Max D. Steuer, counsel for Charles H. Hyde, formerly City Chamberlain, now under indictment on a charge of bribery, served upon District Attorney Whitman last night additional papers, which will be used to-day in the Supreme Court, where Justice Lehman will hear arguments on the application of Mr. Hyde for a change of venue. The papers served last night include an affidavit by Mr. Steuer to the effect that Mr. Hyde cannot get a fair and impartial trial in this county, and another affidavit made by Israel Tilden, Jr., in which Mr. Tilden repeats that the 17 interviews which he obtained concerning the guilt of Mr. Hyde are authentic. One hundred and ten of these men have made affidavits that they expressed no such opinion to Mr. Tilden or any one else.

District Attorney Whitman also made public last night papers which had been served on him the night before. In these papers sixteen lawyers declare that they do not believe that Mr. Hyde can get a fair trial in this county. Thirty-two men, including three newspaper men and a number of theatrical managers, sign affidavits to the same effect.

The lawyers who signed the statement are Samuel Untermyer, who was counsel for Mr. Hyde when he was first indicted; Louis Marshall, a member of Mr. Untermyer's law firm; Charles A. Towne and Benjamin F. Speelman, whose law offices adjoin those of Mr. Steuer, present counsel for Mr. Hyde; Moses H. Grossman, H. S. Dottenheim, A. Herschfeld, Adolph Freyer, who was recently committed to the Tombs for contempt of court and who has taken an appeal, with Mr. Steuer as counsel; Nathan D. Stern, Abraham Gruber, David L. Podell, who was until recently clerk in Mr. Steuer's office; Alfred D. Linn, Leo Bamberger, Dr. Lancelotti, one-time District Attorney; Edward W. Hatch and Joseph S. Auerbach.

The newspaper men who signed affidavits are John Hennessy, managing editor of the New York Press; William A. Graham, City Hall reporter for the New York Globe; William F. Clark, who conducts a news agency, and William Lewis, publisher of the Morning Telegraph.

Among others who signed affidavits for Mr. Hyde are John Delehanty, formerly counsel for Richard Condon; Richard J. Butler, who was known as the "right-hand man" of William S. Devery, formerly Chief of Police; George J. Flegel, editor of the Tammany Times; James H. McCool, who aided Mr. Tilden in obtaining interviews; Thomas J. Shanley, the restaurant man; Frederick T. Beaudry, an underwriter, and John T. McGee, who owns taxicabs.

The theatrical managers are Ralph Long, Ira F. Cass, Lee Grove, Frank Miller, W. F. Rowland, George J. Appleton, Sol Mannheim, Harry Hyams, William E. Atwell, Edward McElroy, J. Charles Middleton, J. Edward Fitzpatrick and John B. Fitzpatrick.

The theatrical men swear that they have frequently heard the case of Mr. Hyde discussed in the lobbies of their respective theatres and that in every case the opinion was expressed that Mr. Hyde is guilty. Several of the managers swear that the arguments on this subject have often become so heated that they have had to separate the men involved. The other men who sign similar affidavits are unanimous in saying that they have frequently visited clubs, hotels, cafes and other public places and have heard every one discussing the Hyde case express the opinion that Mr. Hyde is guilty.

PLANS FOR FUNERAL OF ADMIRAL EVANS

No. 1502 H STREET, N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Thursday.

The funeral of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, retired, who died from an attack of acute indigestion at his home here yesterday afternoon, will be held tomorrow from All Souls' Unitarian Church at half-past two o'clock. Interment will be at Arlington with full military honors, in a plot which the late Admiral himself selected several years ago.

The honorary pallbearers will be Rear Admirals Willard H. Brownson, Seaton Schroeder, C. H. Stockton, John E. Pillsbury and W. Swift, all retired, and Rear Admiral Reginald F. Nicholson, Major General J. P. Sanger and Asst. Gen. McCook, who has come from New York for the occasion.

The Rev. U. G. Pierce will officiate at the church and the Rev. Mr. Wellbourne, Baltimore, a Protestant clergyman stationed at Tokyo, who was a warm personal friend of the Admiral, will officiate at the grave.

The funeral cortege will be composed of four companies of marines, two or three companies of bluejackets from the Washington Navy Yard, and the entire battalion of midshipmen from the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

President Taft has issued an order to the heads of the executive departments directing them to grant leave of absence tomorrow afternoon at half-past two o'clock to all members of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the Spanish War Veterans now in the government service who desire to attend the funeral of Rear Admiral Evans.

MR. S. McPARTLAND, CAPTAIN CARLEY, MERCHANT, IS DEAD

Whom He Taught as a Boy to "Sail Ships."

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] NEWPORT, R. I., Thursday.—Captain John Carley, who was Mr. Ogden Goellet's yacht master during his lifetime, died at his residence here to-day of paralysis, at the age of seventy-eight years. He was born in Danbury, Conn., and not liking farm life, to which he had been brought up, he ran away to New London and went whaling. Later he became a master mariner and sailed around the world four times. In the civil war he was in the revenue service and was promoted for efficiency.

When Messrs. Ogden and Robert Goellet, who were prominent members of the New York Yacht Club, were boys he taught them how to sail boats, and when Mr. Ogden Goellet had his famous schooner yacht the Norseman built Captain Carley supervised the work.

This devoted attention in various parts of the world, Captain Carley sailing her across the Atlantic four times, considered quite a feat in those days with a sailing yacht.

On the coast of England the Prince of Wales, later King Edward, when a guest of Mr. Goellet aboard, complimented Captain Carley on the appearance of the yacht.

Captain Carley's last trip in any yacht was when he brought the body of Mr. Ogden Goellet home. Reaching port he retired at once and had since engaged in the photograph business here as a pastime. He left a widow, two sons and two daughters.

Obituary Notes. Mr. John Henry Ehrhorn, a retired cigar manufacturer, died suddenly of heart disease last evening at his home, No. 44 West Twenty-fourth street. Mr. Ehrhorn was born in 1811. When a young man he was private secretary to the late Rev. Dr. William A. Muhlenberg. He was associated with Dr. Muhlenberg at the time of the founding of St. Luke's Hospital, and for ten years was cashier of that institution. He is survived by two sons.

Mrs. Mary Scott, widow of Andrew Stephen Scott, died yesterday in her home, No. 29 Vandam street. She was seventy-seven years old. Mrs. Scott lived most of her life in the city of New York. Her husband was the head of the Scott Printing Company, one of the first job printers in this city. She left a daughter and four grandchildren.

Mr. Charles H. Lewis, who, with Mr. Edward H. Ten Eyck, held the double sculling championship of the world, died yesterday in Boston of stomach ailments. Mr. Lewis was thirty-five years old. He held international, American and New England championships.

Mrs. Amanda M. De Graff, widow of Mr. Henry P. De Graff, who was president of the Bowery Bank in this city, died in Yonkers yesterday. She was eighty-five years old and was born in Todd, N. Y. She is survived by one daughter, seven grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

Mr. Charles H. Spear, for nearly a quarter of a century Mayor's clerk and clerk of committees of the city government of Lynn, Mass., died in New York yesterday of heart disease. He was born in 1851.

Mr. Levi Lincoln Wilcott, eighty-five years of age, one of Boston's oldest business men, is dead in Brookline, Mass. He was vice president and treasurer of the New England Felt Roofing Works, and in 1850 was a member of the Boston City Council, of which he was the sole survivor.

Mr. James Menall, seventy-three years of age, No. 203 East Seventeenth street, Brooklyn, died at his home Wednesday night. He was born in Ireland and came to this country when a boy. He was chief inspector in the city of New York for thirty-five years. He is survived by his wife and daughter Ruth.

Mrs. Margaret A. McKillop, fifty-seven years old, died Tuesday at her home, No. 114 Kent street, Brooklyn. Mrs. McKillop was born in Ireland and came to this country fifty years ago. She was the widow of Mr. James McKillop. She left four sons and five daughters.

Mr. J. Clarke Boynton, thirty-six years old, died Wednesday night at Marlboro Inn, Montclair, N. J. He had been connected with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for twenty years.

Mrs. John Hollenback died yesterday in the Hempstead Hospital, Hempstead, L. I. She was the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Lowden.

Colonel Charles Henry Morgan, formerly a Representative in Congress, died at his home in Joplin, Mo., yesterday. He was sixty-nine years old. Colonel Morgan served throughout the civil war as a union soldier.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Schaffel, prominent in religious and charitable circles in New Rochelle, died Wednesday night in that city. She was sixty-eight years old.

Mrs. Frances Schler, sixty-four years old, died yesterday at the home of her son, Dr. Edwin W. Harlan, of No. 47 Crescent avenue, Jersey City. She was a member of the New York Oratorio Society and sang in the choir of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Jersey City.

Miss Sarah S. Rittenhouse was found dead in her home, at No. 194 Belmont avenue, Jersey City, yesterday. She was sixty-two years old and a member of several women's organizations.

Mr. Joseph P. Cooper, eighty-five years old, president of the J. P. Cooper Lumber Company, Inc., died Wednesday at his home, at Rutherford, N. J., of injuries suffered in a runaway.

Judge Seth M. Tucker, eighty-two years old, died yesterday in Wichita, Kan. He was a pioneer of Kansas and one of the last of the old Indian fighters.

Ready--The Gimbel Spring Exhibition of Wash Dress Fabrics

There is always a day on which the blossoms in an apple orchard are at their very highest beauty. If you come a day too late, you may still see a wonderful sight, but the crest of the display is past.

So it is with this Spring showing of Wash Cottons. For days the charming fabrics have been coming in, a few at a time, until now the full assemblage is here. But, because many of the designs are exclusive, and we have but one piece of them, the choicest and most desirable weaves are apt to disappear very quickly. So come as soon as you can, to see the display at its best. The popularity of Cotton and Linen Dress Fabrics promises to be greater this season than for a long time, and our presentation has been correspondingly large.

The Beautiful Fabrics from France. $1.25 to $7 Yard contribute the most daring and novel designs. Fabrics are chiefly Voiles, Crepes and Batistes, with no limitation as to color; and with stunning borders of embroidery, flet, tinsel, lace, Pompadour designs, and many others, in self-colorings or exquisite color contrasts.

Most of these Fabrics come from the famous designer, Rodier, of Paris, who supplies the foremost dressmakers of the world. You will find these Fabrics a month hence in the most stunning model gowns. Of many we have but a single piece of a color, and the designs are frequently exclusive with Gimbels. $1.25 to $7 a yard.

Rich Variety Among the Staple Cottons, 15c to 50c Yard

While the cotton aristocrats, of which we have just told you, furnish the most spectacular part of the exhibition, it is the less elaborate weaves that will interest most women, from a practical point of view. And our collection of these, both imported and American, is amazing. There are the Silk-striped Voiles, Self-striped Marquisettes, Woven-striped Voiles, Plain Cotton Voiles, Irish Dimities, Flaxons, Bordered Gingham, Poplins, Bengaline, Silk Mulls, Cotton Crepes, Serpentine Crepes, Anderson's Scotch Gingham, Percales, Galatea, Kindergarten Cloth, and many others, in every conceivable design and coloring. 15c to 50c a yard.

English Chiffon Voile, 28c Yard

24 inches wide, in woven stripes; dainty effects, in Spring colors, with plenty of white and black, black-and-white, and gray-and-white.

French Ramie Linen and Irish Linen, 28c Yard

36 inches wide; in over forty new Spring colorings.

Note—On account of the predicted popularity of Dress Linens this season, we strongly advise your taking advantage of the selection afforded by this splendid stock while it is complete. If, for any reason, you desire to return your purchase before July 1, we will promptly and cheerfully refund your money. Second Floor.

A Treasury of the World's Finest Furs in This Gimbel Sale---a Third to a Half Less Than Regular Prices

That we presented $250,000 worth of genuine furs in this Sale, which started yesterday morning, is really of minor importance to the fact that only rare and carefully selected furs are in this Sale, as it would not be difficult for any one to offer such an amount in the commonplace sort of furs.

We searched the famous fur centres of Europe for many of these furs—for our remaining collection of the season is included in this sale.

Besides, we have added the finest furs from three of the foremost furriers of America. So this is a sale of Russian sables, rare Eastern Mink, Ermine, Fisher, Moleskin, the various species of Fox, Skunk, and even Caracul and Wolf in Scarfs and Muffs—as well as Coats of Persian lamb, ermine, moleskin, Hudson and Arctic seal, caracul and ponyskin.

And it matters not whether the fur is one of the most regal kinds, or whether its price is humble—IT IS GENUINE, AND WE GUARANTEE IT.
